PREPARE FOR LONG TOUR

Basketball Team of Dallas Has Games Already Scheduled in Six States.

A meeting was held last night to arrange further plans for preparation for the tour of the Eastern states to be made this winter by the basketball team of Dallas.

Communications have already been received from managers of teams in Washington, Montana, Michigan, Illinois, Kansas and Utah, promising about $800 in addition to hotel expenses, and letters have been sent to representative teams in many of the states between those in which games have been already scheduled. The complete circuit will probably be established within the next month and a full schedule of games made out. The members of the team are planning to send out an advance agent to hasten the work of securing a circuit and a schedule of games.

The boys will organize and enter into training about November 10 and will start on their tour in December. The lineup will be almost identical with that of last year, with the exception of Craven, the speedy forward, who is away attending school in California. Tests and Morton, veterans of the champion team of three years ago, have been signed up, and the team will be fully as strong as ever before.

H. L. Fenton will accompany the team on its Eastern trip in the capacity of business and financial manager. The members of last year's team whose names will be included in the personnel of the new aggregation are: Claud and Edward Shaw, Tracy Savory and Carl Fenton.

WISE TALKS BY U. S. LOUGHARY'S OFFICE BOY

The boss told me Saturday night that if he heard any one say "I was a good-hearted boy, I might go home and stay there." "When they can't say anything good about you," he went on to explain, "they'll say you are a good-hearted fellow, which is just about the same as saying you are no account." I spunked up a bit and said, "What am I to be when I'm not good-hearted?" He came right back at me and says: "I want you to be known as a hustler, and when they see you wheel up in front of their place I want them to know that their order has arrived right on time, and that it will open up just as they expected it would when they bought it, without any omissions or commissions; well, sir, there are certainly no commissions or tips of any kind on this job, and not much chance for any omissions for the reason that the old man watches us too closely. He is good natured, all right, if everything goes right, but if anything goes wrong, he makes it right and that's no fairy tale. You should see what a lot of home product we are selling now, Dallas bread, butter, cookies and cakes give perfect satisfaction and the boss takes pleasure in selling them."
